

I am an Argentinian photographer, currently living in Helsinki.

My interest is converging on natural landscape and experimentation with natural elements. From a conceptual perspective, I intend with my work to invite to introspection and to turn our gaze to nature. In my artistic practice, I integrate tools learned from internal martial arts that enrich my perception of natural spaces. These tools are interlaced in my experimental work with the approach to science coming from my engineering background.

Music, interdisciplinary work and investigation on spaces nourish my photographic work, transforming it into performative expressions, video, and installations.
